Mayors Conference Maps Plans Today For Utility Battle

Mayor Burns of Troy Calls Utilities Committee Together to Decide Action on Governor's Reform Legislation—Governor, Mayors opposed by Stockholders in Companies.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 1 (Pn).—The mayor's conference mapped plans today for the forthcoming battle over Governor Lehman's public utility reform legislation.

With the legislative hearing on the utility bills 12 days away, Mayor Cornelius F. Burns of Troy called together the utilities committee of the mayors' organization to decide today what to do about numerous bills now before the legislature.

The conference will fight for at least three bills. One permits cities and villages to run their own power plants and offer electricity to customers now buying it from private companies.

Another throws the cost of rate investigations back upon the utility companies, as a means of deterring lengthy court delays. A third permits the Public Service Commission to put lower rates in effect in spite of court appeals, giving consumers the benefit of rate changes while the courts are acting.

With the governor and the mayors conference on one side, a movement has been started among

Since the Republican controlled assembly and a Democratic controlled senate committee killed the Lehman bills last year, events have heightened public interest in the governor's program.

The first was disclosure by the Public Service Commission last summer that a number of companies continued to earn a high return during depressed years when earnings of Another was the sensational charge by Republican State Chairman W. Kingsland Macy that his part in the assembly was controlled

This brought from Governor Lehman the prediction that his bills would have a better chance of passing this year.

1934 Model Is U. S. Gold Bullion Status

Thus Secretary Morgenthau Describes Nation's Stand as Result of Dollar Devaluation Program—Profit to Government Is $2,792.

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—The United States was described today by Secretary Morgenthau as being on a 1934 model of a gold bullion devaluation program which netted the government a $2,792,940.51

He made this statement to reporters as Professor Irving Fisher of Yale testified to a house banking subcommittee that the existing federal reserve system "will now be lucky if it escapes destruction altogether."

Morgenthau refused to discuss operation of the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund created out of the devaluation of the dollar.

Meanwhile, administration officials watched the climb of quotations on the stock markets and the ebb and flow of the dollar in foreign ex-

Licenses Revoked And Suspended

Kingston, N. Y., Jan. 31.—Seven drivers and automobile certificates of automobile registration and licenses to drive were revoked or suspended by the commissioner of motor vehicles during the two weeks ended January 29. Of these cases 229 will require evidence of financial responsibility before applications for new licenses will be considered.

There were 51 revocations and 405 suspensions to New York city and vicinity and 32 revocations and 221 suspensions to other parts of the state.

In the Albany district there were 23 revocations and 57 suspensions.
Drivers of this vicinity affected by the action of the commissioner were as follows:

Revocations.
Frank Torni, New Paltz, for false statement on application.
Suspensions.
Florence E. Levy, Tannersville, and Dorris Dauby of 17 South Pine street, Kingston, for operating unregistered motor vehicle.
Louis Goldberg, 100 Center

fily judgment.

"CURSE-RIDDEN" TOMB VISITED BY 100,000

Death of Writer Recalls
"Tut" Superstition.

Washington.—The death in London of Arthur E. P. Weigall, writer and Egyptologist, who entered the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen shortly after it was opened in 1923, has recalled the superstition in regard to "Tut-Ankh-Amen's curse," believed by the credulous to pursue those who had a part in uncovering the Pharaoh's last resting place. A communication to the National Geographic society from Dr. Maynard Owen Williams, who, as correspondent for the National Geographic Magazine, entered the tomb with Mr. Weigall, tells of the many persons who have gone into the Tut-Ankh-Amen burial chamber, born from the limestone cliffs near Luxor, Egypt.

Tourists View Chamber.

"The official opening of the inner chamber was on February 18, 1923," writes Doctor Williams. "Prior to that time, probably a dozen workers and supervisors had been in and out of the chamber containing the king's mummy, though none of them then knew that the shroud, sarcophagus and rich coffins had actually survived 33 centuries of grave robberies. On the 18th a score of Egyptian officials visited the tomb, and on the 17th a party of about ten Egyptologists entered.
On the day of the official opening the queen of the Belgians was the honor guest, and went in with a group of about a dozen companions and officials. On the following day nine foreign correspondents were admitted, including Mr. Weigall and myself.

"Soon after this the tomb was temporarily closed; but after the art objects had been removed and protected, the tomb with its sarcophagus and mummy was opened for visits by the public. Probably 100,000 visitors in all have entered the tomb. Twelve thousand visited it during two months in 1928.

"The finding of Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb became world news. Thousands of columns of newspaper space were devoted to it in every country. Never before in history had an archaeological discovery so captured popular interest.

"Business men throughout the world pleaded for the right to use these 3,300-year-old designs for gloves, sandals, jewelry and textiles. One American silk manufacturer established a scholarship for study of the designs.

Museum Holds Treasures.
"The incomparable treasures from Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb, whose salvage and preservation required years of arduous work, are now more exhibits in the Egyptian museum at Cairo, where they occupy several galleries in the crowded show house founded by Mariette Pasha.

"Soon after the tomb was closed at the end of the 1923 season, Lord Carnarvon, who had backed a thankless task which led to a brilliant discovery, died as a result of an insect bite and pneumonia, and soon movie producers in Berlin began a film, "Pharaoh's Revenge," based on the theme of evil spirits. In regard to the suggestions of malevolent influences, Mr. Weigall, although a scientist, declared that he "kept an open mind." He devoted to the subject a fantastic chapter in his volume "Tut-Ankh-Amen and Other Essays."

"Such curses as were inscribed in Egyptian tombs were designed to scare away possible tomb robbers; but at Thebes the very men who dug the underground chambers for the dead and prepared the sarcophagi for the royal mummies sometimes tunneled under the site. Thus they were ready to break through the floor and the base of the sarcophagus and so withdraw the mummy and its jewels.
The upper surfaces of the royal sepulchre would give no hint that the body had been taken away."

Machine Built by Clerk Has Run for Over Year

Racine, Wis.—Clarence R. Allen, Racine broker's clerk and amateur inventor, has constructed a machine which has run a year and three months under its own power.

Quick to resent anyone calling it a "perpetual motion" machine, Allen explains that the mechanism runs from "hot and cold areas over the earth."

The machine, according to Allen, utilizes drafts running up a large circular sheet iron shaft. Two fans, each of which revolves in opposite directions, set up a pressure for the other within the tube, causing a steel shaft to rotate.

With power derived from the machine, Allen claims he has drilled holes through sheet steel. At present the mechanism turns a large wagon wheel weighted with 300 pounds of scrap iron.

Old Mules Star Boarders

New Orleans.—Nellie and Mamie, each aged thirty-nine years, are star boarders on the free and honored list of the New Orleans city government.
They are two of the oldest mules in the United States and have been public since 1905. For 21 years, the pair pulled garbage wagons through the streets of New Orleans.

Students Vote for Banquet

Salem, Ore.—Williamite university students, who have, since the foundation of the university, been forbidden to dance, voted 10 to 1 in favor of that form of entertainment at a special election.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON.—While the report of the special senate committee investigating the political situation in Louisiana carried no indication that immediate action might be expected, it did serve to bring out one fact very clearly.

The cost and extent of congress-sional inquiry into Louisiana politics, it was revealed, has reached tremendous proportions.

Chairman Connally of Texas, in presenting the report of the special committee which looked into the campaign expenditures of Senator Overton, stated that his committee had spent in this inquiry alone $25,- 000 appropriated by the senate to investigate all senatorial election expenditures.

More than that, said Connally, a deficit had been incurred which the senate would have to make up. He estimated that a total of 54 weeks had been required to make the investigation.

Overton Enumerated

WHILE the Connally committee enumerated Overton of any personal improprieties in the election which sent him to the senate, the Louisiana political situation was categorized in the most stinging terms of any senatorial report in years.

It was set forth freely and frankly that Louisiana politics is dominated by the state democratic association otherwise known as the "Long organization."

Connally, speaking for himself, admitted that while he knew little of the political machines that exist in the big cities of the country, it was his belief that the bones of such organizations would do well to go to Louisiana for post-graduate courses.

Valuable and expensive as the Connally committee report is, it by no means completes the record on Louisiana politics or "political king-making" gathered by congress.

Legal Question

THE senate judiciary committee now has before it for consideration a legal question involving the activities of Senator Long in Louisiana.

A few days ago, Ashurst of Arizona, chairman of the senate judiciary committee, had re-referred to the committee on privileges and elections what he described as possibly a thousand or more petitions, resolutions, letters and telegrams relating to the right of Long to hold a seat in the senate.

IN THE house, Mrs. Bolivar Kemp, a Long-sponsored candidate, is having it out with Jared Y. Sanders, Jr., for the right to sit as the representative from the sixth Louisiana district.

It is probably safe to say that the record of the 73rd congress will contain more about Louisiana politics and "political kingmaking" than political disputes in all the other states combined.

Name "Marian" and "Marion"

There seems to be no hard and fast rule concerning the spelling of the Christian name "Marian." In early literature it was spelled both with an "a" and with an "o." Marian as a feminine name is derived from that of the Virgin Mary, and in France as early as the Thirteenth century was so spelled. Later there appeared a French feminine name, Marianne, a combination of Marie and Anne, which subsequently was abbreviated to Marien. Among the Latin races, many men were also named for the Virgin Mary, and the name Marion, spelled either with an o or with an a, is frequently used.

Mother says:

"I don't know what I'd do without a telephone. It saves so much time, runs so many errands easily. Saves me a lot of worry and keeps me in close touch with my friends."

Father says:

"I feel a lot easier about the family when I'm away. They can always get help quickly if anything happens and then it's nice to call up the boys for a friendly game in the evening."

Sister says:

"I'd be completely lost without the telephone. I'd have lost fewer friends—and I'd miss hours of good times because now-days they're arranged so quickly! Believe me, the telephone means a lot to a girl."

Brother says:

"All the fellows I know in school have telephones—and I'd be left out of the crowd if we didn't have one. You bet, our telephone means a lot to me—keeps me up with things!"

"Babe" says:

"I like the telephone too. I love to say 'hello' to Daddy when he's away and telephone Mother. And when I have my birthday party it's so easy to invite the boys and girls."

ADD IT UP
AND IT SAYS

"Our family couldn't get along without the telephone"

The telephone is much more than a convenience and a pleasure—it's a necessity to every member of the family in so many ways and at so many times. When you consider all that it does, the trips it saves, the security it gives for a few cents a day—there is no other home convenience that gives so much for so little. Why not drop into any Telephone Business Office and talk it over with us?

Do it today and start enjoying your telephone all the sooner.

Prominent Couple Found Dead Today

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 1 (AP)—Dr. Claude Mattingly, prominent American physician, and Mrs. F. A. C. Perrin, wife of a University of Texas professor, were found dead in a room of the Texas Hotel here today.

Justice of the Peace Sam Johnson had not rendered an official verdict, but he expressed the opinion they had come to their deaths through a suicidal injection of a narcotic.

Dr. Mattingly was about 34 years old. The bodies were found side by side on a double bed in a room that hotel attaches said Dr. Mattingly had occupied about a month. The room was in order and the bodies were clothed.

Professor Perrin has been Professor of Psychology at the University of Texas since 1925.

Prior to 1917 he was an instructor in psychology at the University of Pittsburgh. He was educated at the University of Chicago.

New Bill Sought On Perjury Rulings

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—Senator John L. Buckley said he would introduce a bill today to reduce the punishment for perjury from a maximum of 20 years in felony cases to a maximum of five years or a fine of $5,000.

In cases other than felony cases he proposes to reduce the penalty from a maximum of 10 years to a maximum of one year or a $500 fine. "The punishment for perjury heretofore existing has been found by the Buckley commission on the administration of justice to be too severe, resulting in reluctance to prosecute except in the most flagrant cases," Senator Buckley said.

Annual Meeting Of Industrial Home

and 9 have given entertainments at "The Home."

At Thanksgiving kind friends generously remembered "The Home" especially the children from the various schools, who for many years have carried gifts of every description to the schools to be collected by kind expressmen and taken gratuitously to "The Home." The pupils from the high school sent a generous check.

The holiday season is always a happy one at "The Home." Many friends contributed Christmas trees, food and presents of all kinds. For many years a committee from Roundout Lodge, F. & A. M., No. 343, has visited "The Home" on Christmas Day. This year seven members came bringing two presents for each child. The Roundout Commandery, K. of T., sent a generous check as usual.

It was with deep regret that the Board of Managers accepted the resignation of Mrs. John G. Van Etten and Mrs. John W. Eckert. Mrs. Van Etten has served as a manager since 1916 and had endeared herself to all the children and was a faithful member of the Board. Mrs. Eckert served as a manager for seven years, part of the time as treasurer. She gave much of her time and of her wonderful ability to the work. All of which was deeply appreciated by the board.

Again, death has entered our midst. We deeply regret the loss of George Burgevin, who died July 5. He was an efficient member of the Board of Trustees for eight years. Ever ready to give his time and personal attention to the affairs of the institution. "The Home" has lost a valued friend.

On October 24, Mrs. John Forsyth died. Elected in 1914 as a manager, she became, through her gentleness and sweet disposition, one of the most beloved members of the board, and a great friend of the children. Mrs. Forsyth served as second vice president for five years.

We welcome as new managers on this board, Mrs. A. M. Cragin, Mrs. Harry P. Dodge and Mrs. Harry B. Walker. We are fortunate in that William C. Kingman has consented to serve as a member of our Board of Trustees.

We close the 57th year of "The Home" with the hope that during all future years this institution, in its care of dependent children, may be so managed that it will ever be entitled to receive the generous support, which the public has favored it in the past.

The big blinker standard that stood in the center of Broadway at Railroad avenue on the uptown side of the Broadway railroad crossing was taken down Wednesday and in its place was installed a light traffic standard with a green lantern on top of it. At the last meeting of the board of public works it was decided to remove the big blinker as it had been damaged a number of times when struck by motor vehicles. The board decided that if the present traffic standard was placed and it was hit no one would be seriously injured and it could be easily repaired.

BLOND GODDESS

A New Serial by Herbert Jensen

Chapter 31
AT MERIDA

GREENE rubbed at a lump over his temple. Thoughtfully he adjusted his coat upon his shoulders and studied a roared rest in its side through which some papers in the pocket had been blown by the breeze.

"Humm," he grunted. "So this is Merida. What happened? A safe and sane Fourth?"

They explained as much as they knew. While they talked the train began to move, haltingly at first then with gathering speed. Lights began to slip past the car windows; then the trucks of the cars screeched around a turn. They were passing through a lane lined with shadowy buildings.

"Merida, I guess," offered Hogarth.

They jerked into a dimly lighted station. The men began to arrange the boxes so as to be ready for their departure. The train stopped.

The other passengers crowded through the door. Outside they could see dozens of armed soldiers patrolling the platform. There was a commotion at the doorway. A huge man shouldered himself through the press and approached down the aisle.

His face was blue-jowled and dark, smoke from his black cigarette dribbled through thick nostrils. He wore the bleached linen suit of the hacendado, with the tunic buttoning up to the neck. His arm was carried in a black silken sling.

He loomed above the seated Americans. For an instant Janice did not recognize him, then she caught her breath. It was Ortega, the man whom Frank Graham had suspected as being involved in her abduction in Hollywood a month ago.

While she had told them all in Myberg's office that she did not believe that Ortega was implicated; nevertheless to herself she admitted that she was unsure. Janice looking at him now, was conscious of a sense of uneasiness as his glance met hers—a tiny ringing of some subconscious bell of unrest as those fabled eyes were turned down to her. He bowed deeply.

"Miss Kent," he began. "How are you Mr. Greene, and Mr. Hogarth. It is a pleasure to see you all again. I am delighted." His somber stare made his statement sound contradictory. "I have a message for you from Mr. McGrath, your advance man."

Greene stirred irritably. "Where is he?"

The big man's glance flickered over Mr. Greene and paused at the torn and stained shirt front. He allowed the question to remain unanswered and addressed himself to Janice.

"So Mr. Myberg decided to go on with the picture? It is good. I shall be delighted to help you. It has been a great regret of mine that I was forced to leave Hollywood so suddenly. I was planning to return when I met Mr. McGrath. I decided, then, to wait your arrival."

JANICE wished the man did not make her feel so uneasy. Was this the suave, well-mannered Ortega that had sent her daily flowers in Hollywood? He seemed the same but with a subtle difference.

Once, two years before she had met an industrial executive and had been taken through one of his factories. She had admired him for his power, decisiveness, and shrewd command of his organization; later she met him at a masquerade costume as an eighteenth century beau and he had been clumsy and ridiculous.

She thought of him now, looking at Ortega. In a sort of reverse way this had happened to him. The polished latin aristocrat in Hollywood had become somewhat gross—his more effective this way Janice admitted—but there was a shade of incongruity in it—like a top turned sideways.

"So you waited," said Mr. Greene. "Yeah. That's fine. But where is he? McGrath? He should have met us at Progresso. He didn't show up. Instead we came here and got shot at. What is it? A revolution? What's the matter with you guys down here? Don't you know this is lousy publicity? Now if I was running this country—"

"Merida," he said, "will be under our control. It will be safer where I will take you."

"Oh," said Mr. Greene after a reflective pause.

"Again," continued Ortega. "Mr. McGrath told me to say that he was in complete charge of arrangements, and that if Mr. Greene wanted to stay and be killed, by all means I was not to discourage him."

Greene bristled. Hogarth chuckled. Wallace, the older of the camera men said, "Go ahead and stay, Greene."

But Mr. Greene looked pensive. His glance shifted from the face of Ortega to that of Janice, and back to Ortega's again.

"I don't like this layout," he said. "It seems to me that the best thing we can do would be to get out of this country as soon as we can. You never can tell about these revolutions. He turned to Ortega. "You say we can't get out the way we came? Is there any other way?"

The big man dropped his cigarette and ground it under his heel. "The territory of Quintana Roo lies to the eastward. Is there I intend to take you."

STROKES OF GENIUS

by SAMUEL REEDMAN & ALFRED PARKER

JOSEPH MALLORD WILLIAM TURNER

TURNER, the most celebrated English landscape painter, was the son of a barber. Economical, almost miserly in his personal habits, but generous to others, he acquired a fortune of three-quarters of a million dollars through his pictures. This he intended to leave as a huge pension for needy artists, but the money fell into the hands of lawyers and relatives.

Turner left over 2000 pictures and drawings to the British nation. In addition, over 19,000 scraps of paper with drawings on them were taken from his dirty and dilapidated house to the National Gallery.

Between 1833 and 1846, Turner often visited Venice. The "Venice" pictured above was done during this period, and is a superb and brilliantly colored view of the Grand Canal. It is now in the South Kensington Museum in London.

During the last year of his long life, Turner changed his name and disappeared, ingeniously evading his friends. He was not located until the day before his death, when a letter found in an old overcoat revealed his hiding place.

TOMORROW: A SPECTACLE MAKER'S INSTRUMENT FOR PEERING INTO THE UNKNOWN

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 4
Personal Exemptions.

In addition to the personal exemption of $1,000 for single persons and $2,500 for married persons living together and for heads of families, a taxpayer is entitled to a credit of $400 for each dependent, defined by income-tax law and regulations as a person under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective. The term "mentally or physically defective" means not only cripples and those mentally defective but persons in ill health and the aged.

In order to be entitled to the $400 credit, the taxpayer must furnish the dependent his or her chief support. The credit is based upon actual financial dependency, and not mere legal dependency. For example, a father whose children receive half or more of their support from a trust fund or other separate source is not entitled to the credit.

Neither relationship nor residence is a factor in the allowance of the $400 credit for a dependent. The taxpayer and the dependent may be residents of different cities. If husband and wife both contribute to the support of a dependent, the $400 credit may be taken by the one contributing the chief support, and may not be divided between them.

A single person who supports in his home an aged mother is entitled not only to the $400 credit for a dependent, but also to the personal exemption of $2,500 as the head of a family. A widower supporting under similar circumstances a dependent child under 18 years of age also is entitled to the personal exemption of $2,500 as the head of a family, plus the $400 credit for a dependent.

Under the Revenue Act of 1932 both the personal exemption and the credit for dependents are required to be pro-rated where the status of the taxpayer changed during the year.

Good News for Kidney Sufferers

Tells of Cooperation As Basis for Rotary

"Competition isn't the life of trade," said L. Col. G. Sarnear Bullock to the members of the local Rotary Club in its noon meeting yesterday. "But on the contrary is the death of it. Competition is a gun that shoots both ways, killing the man in front and the man behind. Civilization is through with the 'dog eat dog' theory of existence. For such a theory leaves but one dog, and the lone survivor, filled with too much dog meat, dies of dyspepsia."

Mr. Bullock, long a figure in Rotary International, a member of the South Bend, Indiana, Club and an honorary member of the London, England, Rotary organization, brought up the above idea during the course of his discussion about the subject "What Makes Rotary Rotate?" The ideal of cooperation rather than competition will eventually solve the perplexing problems of modern living, cooperation and a spirit of honest fellowship. These thoughts L. Col. Bullock has conveyed to hundreds of service clubs here and abroad.

Forceful and witty of speech, Mr. Bullock, organizer of four Canadian battalions during the World War, spoke with a gift of eloquence that made his talk enjoyable to all those fortunate enough to hear his discourse.

"Rotary can be a force or a farce," stated the speaker in beginning his talk. "It can do tremendous good in the community or it can be absolutely worthless. It depends upon the spirit behind the thoughts that Rotary personifies."

He went on to say that no business ever was forced into bankruptcy because of too much service to its patrons. Service de luxe is the life of trade. The man who fails is the man who wears out the seat of his trousers rather than his shoe leather.

Boys' work, one of the basic undertakings of Rotary, was also discussed at some length by the speaker. He commended the work of the local club on its boys' work activity, and stated that it was the duty of every father to understand his son and help in formulating a worthwhile method of living.

"Learn to understand your sons," he told his audience, "and discover what they want to make of themselves in life. Boys of today are the same as you fathers who were boys of yesterday. The younger generation is not going to the dogs. If the old fashioned buggy and the modern rumble seat were able to talk, they would have a lot in common."

Talks to Parents

Father's Opportunity
By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH
There is no more difficult time in the life of a child, and, for that matter, for those then about him, than when he is between 13 and 18. Parents should be prepared to face this period calmly.

It is a period of profound readjustment, both physically and mentally, and the child, quite unprepared for the change by anything in his experience, is very like a caged animal, fighting against an unseen foe.

With boys the phase generally comes a little later and more gradually than with girls, and is very baffling to the average mother. The son who has been so full of fun and pranks, so indifferent to girls, and so even-tempered, gradually disappears. In his place is a creature of moods, of sudden fits of unreasoning depression and weariness.

He is critical of his family, and especially of his sisters, if he has any. The way other people do things is to him the correct way, and no effort of his family to conform to his ideals will help, because they change as often as a shifting wind. He is very apt to profess a contempt for girls, and all the time to be furiously interested in them. In their presence he is raucous and either silent and morose or hysterically self-assured.

There is no time in his life when a boy needs his father more, if he is told by one who knows and has been through the stage that it is a normal part of development, which will pass, he can shake off some of the loneliness and fear which are distressing him.

For the rest, the family needs a large tolerance to help them to live through these years. If they can laugh, so much the better, but it must be kindly laughter which understands.

Freeman Thanked For Seal Sale Aid

Editor of Kingston Freeman,
2 Broadway,
Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Sir:

At a meeting of the Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health, it was unanimously carried that a vote of thanks be given to the Kingston Freeman for the cordial cooperation given in our recent Christmas Seal Sale. We are certain it would not have been the success it was, if it had not been for the help given by your paper.

The splendid response given to the Christmas Seal Sale each year which finances the fight against the dread disease, tuberculosis in Ulster county is in a large measure due to your generous cooperation. We should like to feel that every citizen in Ulster county is a partner in this work. We already know of 5,000 people who have been able to purchase seals this year and every additional contribution adds to the importance of our work. 225 more donors were reported this morning towards the desired total of $7,444 and we are grateful for every bit of help.

Sincerely,
ULSTER COUNTY COMMITTEE ON TUBERCULOSIS AND PUBLIC HEALTH

Bay Window and Bow Window

The terms bay and bow window are frequently used interchangeably, although this is not correct, strictly speaking. A bay window is properly one that is a segment of a circle. A bay window in architecture is one projecting outward and rising from the ground or basement in a plan rectangular, semi-circular or semi-hexagonal, but always straight-angled.

vaporizes quickly . . . sustains acceleration

HERE'S a different and real winter grade of regular gas that really licks your winter starting troubles.

Real winter grade Orange American Gas vaporizes quickly. That means it breaks down instantly into a spray, which fires the second your starter makes the plugs spark.

It will do that and start quickly even when the thermometer is at Zero or 'way below. That done, this same steady vaporizing keeps your motor running smoothly without stalling. Engineers call that "sustained acceleration".

You'll want to try this real winter grade Orange American Gas, because it will give you better winter performance than any other gasoline selling at regular gas price.

No More Piles

You Can End Your Awful Misery Quick Without Cutting or Solves

Thousands of pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel. This is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give permanent relief. Why cutting does not remove the cause. Your suffering, itching, or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. Manual treatments can't do this—no surgical methods should be used. HENRY'S Ointment, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leachman, sold by good druggists everywhere, removes the cause of the circulation, drives out congested blood, and restores the slender, dead parts. So why worry about an operation when Henry's Ointment cures every Pile sufferer in 10 to 20 days? Get your bottle of HENRY'S Ointment at 25¢ and read the Piles, no matter how stubborn the case!—Adm.

The Blouse Plays a Smart Role

Copyright, 1934, by Fairchild

Simple and with a decided leaning toward sports are these blouses. Sketched here, at the top—

Tones of red, gray and white in a plaid pique with bolero effect in the bodice and high pull-through neckline.

Below—Light blue cotton suede cloth in a shirt style with box pleats and breast pockets.

The short-sleeved suit is made of a checked cotton tweed and red pique. The check trims the pique shorts.

There is a Place for Wool in the Spring Parade

New York. Although silks have a slight edge on wool, it is not likely that the wool, so dear to sweet young things especially, will be eliminated from the spring fashion promenade.

They window, and indoors too, are comfortably lined with nice breezy looking wool things in colors light enough to appeal to those whose minds are on spring clothes. Reports from fashionable resorts indicate no waning of the popularity of wool even though they do indicate a tremendous enthusiasm for cottons and such fabrics as can be tubbed regularly.

Beside a formidable display of another thing, one gets almost as many in lace, sometimes boucle, and sometimes string-or-if you prefer it, twine. Twine or string color is one of the very smartest of the spring shades and runs a very good chance of being the more desirable of the spring neutrals, which is not extraordinary since we have been wearing gray and as usual like a change. The model sketched is in twine color and has a pick-me-up of bright red, a pleasant arrangement of velvet ribbon under the chin. Nice idea isn't it? Red seems to be to the string-colored dress what white is to the black and navy one.

If you are the sweater type, don't forget to buy your sweaters in pairs, one a cardigan and the other not. These may be worn with the skirt of your spring suit, for, of course, you will have a spring suit, or with one of the many kinds of separate skirts you are going to find absolutely essential to your summer comfort.

The shirtwaist and skirt idea continues as strong as it was when Charles Dana Gibson first gave us the "Gibson Girl". Shirtwaists are made of everything from the sheerest to the heaviest fabrics, depending on the time, the place and the girl. They rarely match, being usually lighter or brighter than the skirt.

At the moment there is a run on lame for blouses of a formal and semi-formal type.

A trim frock of beige angora woolen gaily accented with the and belt of Chinese red velvet. A small stitched velvet hat and matching bag complete the costume and the feather in the cap is beige and red.

Automotive Dealers Adopted Resolution In Hoffman's Memory

Kingston Association Pays Tribute to Memory of One of Its Members By Adopting Resolutions and Then Standing in Silence for Minute at Annual Meeting.

The Automotive Dealers of Kingston paid their last tribute of respect to the memory of their member, A. W. Hoffman, managing editor of The Freeman, who was a charter member of the association, at the annual meeting Wednesday evening at McCabe's Restaurant when the members stood in silence for a minute and then unanimously adopted the following resolution:

WHEREAS the Supreme Commander of All by death has removed from our midst our beloved member and friend, Abraham W. Hoffman, a charter member of the Automotive Dealers of Kingston, on Sunday, January 28th, 1934, and

WHEREAS his quiet and genial manner and interest in this organization, his devotion to the programs of the organization and to the welfare of our individual members have endeared him to the hearts of each and every one of us, and

WHEREAS by his constant and untiring efforts and sincere efforts he has fostered the principles of better understanding and cooperation between us,

BE IT RESOLVED that the Automotive Dealers of Kingston in regular annual meeting assembled on the evening of Wednesday, January 31, 1934, here sincerely record its genuine sorrow and grief at the passing of our esteemed member and that while death has robbed us of his comradeship, friendship and counsel, it cannot deprive us of our pride in his honorable life, his patriotic spirit, his devoted citizenship and his service to the organization and maintaining this organization.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the deepest sympathy of this organization be extended to his bereaved ones, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this resolution be spread on the minutes of this meeting as a permanent memory of our sorrow, so that our remembrance of him may ever be entwined with the story of our future history even as his past accomplishments and virtues are blended in the history of our past, and that a copy of these Resolutions be presented to his son, Frederick Hoffman and his daughter, Mrs. Melvin Churchill.

BIG MINING BOOM SEEN IN ROCKIES

New Monetary Policies Spur Gold Prospecting

Denver, Colo.—Mining authorities of the Rocky Mountain region predict 1934 will see one of the greatest booms in many years.

With government monetary policies lifting prices of both gold and silver to levels making for profitable operation of many mines long closed down, production of the precious metals is expected to leap to new highs.

Already, despite the fact that coming of winter has held down activity, official figures reveal a modest boom. Production totals of Colorado mines for last year, reports showed, reached nearly $7,000,000 in value, a total far above 1932.

A considerable increase in production of silver was recorded, but gold production decreased slightly. Nevertheless, the fact the government bought the yellow metal at high levels resulted in an increase in value of the gold produced.

The gold-buying order of President Roosevelt resulted in one of the greatest prospecting rushes in state history—and not a few of the thousands who searched the mountains for gold were successful.

There was Charlie Starr, for example. Only a few days after the government order he revealed discovery of one of the richest lodes ever found in Colorado. Almost at the same time this long-time prospector and his partner, George Gilmore, found untold riches.

The Starr discovery, located near Mancos, Colo., was only one of many. In the Cripple Creek district, generally believed worked out long ago, several new discoveries were made. In the district around Starr's discovery dozens of new strikes were reported, many of them apparently of sufficient value to make their owners wealthy.

Effect of the boom was at once apparent. Receipts of newly mined gold at the United States mint here doubled and then quadrupled. New capital came into the state to be invested in mining properties. Equipment companies dealing in mining materials reported enormous increases in business.

The silver-buying order, which lifted the price of the white metal to 64½ cents an ounce, was expected to have an even greater effect. Certainly, authorities said, it will provide the stimulus for many new mining operations.

Says Misfits Find Dodge in "Nervous Breakdown"

Berkeley, Calif.—There is no such thing as a "nervous breakdown," according to Dr. M. C. Reid, University of California psychiatrist.

Actually, Doctor Reid said, the condition termed a "breakdown" is a mental "compromise."

"A typical case that we have in college," the psychiatrist said, "is the student who attempts to take subjects in which he is uninterested or for which he is mentally unadapted. Unable to force himself to give the concentration to master these subjects, he worries continually, and at the approach of finals he attempts to drive his brain and will power."

"The result from a case of this kind is that the conscious mind is determined to carry on, but the unconscious mind rebels. The so-called nervous breakdown is a compromise. The individual 'saves' his face and the scorn of the world is changed to sympathy and solicitation. This is an unconscious evasion of responsibility."

Relaxation was cited by the psychiatrist as an aid to overcoming such conditions.

Fish Hour Whistle, Wiggle Back Home

President, Calif.—Nineteen goldfish that aggressively walked back home in response to a whistle were introduced to a skeptical public today by Mrs. J. E. Fertig of Pasadena.

The leading fish was Witty, a doughty old veteran of the pool. Mrs. Fertig led him back to his home. Billy and his companions were swept away by torrential rains. Mrs. Fertig recalled her garden. Harry Fraser, once boasted he could call Billy by a peculiar whistle. She summoned the garden to prove it.

Fraser walked from puddle to puddle whistling. At the largest he again whistled. Up popped Billy.

Fraser, said Mrs. Fertig, retreated backward still whistling, and Billy, trailed by the 18 other goldfish, swam warily back to the pool.

The Newburgh News Editor's Tribute

The Newburgh News,
Newburgh, N. Y.
Calvin D. Myers, Editor.
January 29, 1934

Dear Mr. Myers:
Someone in The Freeman office has been so kind and thoughtful as to send me a copy of the paper on Mr. Hoffman's death. I am glad to have these in complete form for preservation. I am proud and happy that he is remembered in The Freeman office, where it was his great fortune to be employed for a short time some 15 years ago.

Though my association with Mr. Hoffman was brief, I came to know him well, and his sturdy character, high ideals, dignity, and sense of honor deeply impressed me. There has been none in the newspaper profession whom I have held in higher regard. He seemed to me the very embodiment of what was best and most helpful and important in the art of newspaper-making. He has had a very distinct influence on my life, as he must have had on all his associates.

When I was in Kingston in 1915 I was undergoing a period of readjustment. I formed a number of friendships, yours and Mr. Hoffman's included, which I cherish to this day. I found everyone kind and have only happy memories of Kingston and The Freeman office and its staff.

Sincerely,
CALVIN D. MYERS.

The following editorial on Mr. Hoffman was printed Wednesday in the Newburgh News:

In the death of Abraham W. Hoffman, successfully reported, city editor and managing editor of The Kingston Freeman for almost 40 years, the newspaper profession of the Hudson river region has lost one of its ablest and most conscientious workers. He set a high standard in his work, and his own newspaper very correctly says of him that he never violated a confidence in his 59 years of newspaper work in Ulster county or never knowingly caused to be printed anything untrue or misleading. In unpleasant incidents he sought to spare feelings and gave great consideration to the unfortunate. He never essayed the role of crusader or uplifter but he labored untiringly for the right, for justice and for good.

Truly to no one could greater eulogy be paid. Mr. Hoffman wielded wide influence in his home community and throughout his county and this region. He was an able speaker as well as writer. He was ever loyal to Kingston. His works will live long after him.

In his 43 years of service as a court reporter, Duncan C. McCallum of Oreoville, Cal., says he has transcribed more than 432,000,000 words.

THEM AND THE DETECTIVE HIDE TO LURE HOOD AWAY FROM HIS ROOM BY A BOLD RUSE, SO THEY CAN SEARCH IT.

THE DETECTIVE PRETENDED TO GO TO A MOVIE BUT INSTEAD... WE SEE HIM ON THE PORCH ROOF OF THE BOARDING HOUSE OUTSIDE OF HOODS WINDOW.

HOOD LOOKS SLEEPY... I HOPE HE COMES UPSTAIRS IN TIME... THERE'S HIS STEP... HE'S STUMBLING... VERY WELL DONE MY FRIEND... AND THERE GOES HOOD TO THE RESCUE...

WHAT'S UP... ANOTHER HEART ATTACK? SHALL I CALL A DOCTOR?

NO, NO, I'LL BE ALL RIGHT IN A FEW MINUTES... IF YOU'LL JUST HELP ME TO MY ROOM... I'M KIND OF WEAK...

SO FAR OUR LITTLE TRICK HAS WORKED PERFECTLY... I CAN HEAR HOOD OFFERING HOOD A DRINK... NOW IF WE CAN ONLY KEEP HIM THERE LONG ENOUGH TO LET ME SEARCH THIS ROOM...

This is dangerous business... one false step and ————?

STOP BAD BREATH

Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no griping pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaints, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 50c, 60c.—Adv.

HOW OTHERS SEE US

F. Mateos in El Sol, Madrid, takes a pessimistic view of the American monetary program. In this cartoon, entitled "The Reduction to 60 Per cent," he shows Uncle Sam falling from a 10 per cent swing—the swing going from 50 to 60 per cent parity of gold. Below is written: "The push is Roosevelt's; the 'catastrophe' will be Uncle Sam's."

Friendly Spain Is Amazed At U. S. Energy

This is the eighth and last article of a series concerning foreign opinions and impressions regarding American and Americans.

By H. E. KNOBLAUGH

Madrid (AP).—Historically it is but a short time since the Spanish-American war, but the intervening 35 years have seen the hatreds of that war swept away and enmity replaced by amity.

Surveying the evidences of this transformation, many consider Spain as pro-American as any European nation; some regard it more so.

Chiefly, the man in the street feels friendliness and admiration for his one-time transatlantic foe, but there is a touch of amazement, too, as he continues to read and hear of its great industries, its wealth, its commercial and scientific strides and the opportunities it offers its citizens.

American Energy Puzzling True, he cannot quite understand the restless energy of the American as he sees him for the first time to which the American's life is attuned.

It is difficult for him to visualize mass production, but all around him are too many examples of that kind of production to permit him to lose sight of it and respect for it.

American-manufactured automobiles swarm about him in such increasing numbers that, more and more, American-type highways are being made necessary.

Imports U. S. Farm Aids

American farm machinery and American agricultural methods are replacing hand-labor and antiquated farming systems.

The best of his newspapers are printed on presses imported from the United States—his favorite moving pictures are products of Hollywood studios.

He realizes what the introduction of American telephone methods has done for business in Spain.

The Spaniard, in turn, compensated by the knowledge that all this has not been one-sided, knows that the United States is one of his country's best markets for hides, cork, quicksilver, rugs, soaps, nuts, olive oil and other exportable products.

Prohibition's End Important

And now repeal of prohibition has reopened a prized outlet for Spain's famed wines.

The volume of United States news published in Spanish newspapers is not heavy, but it is heavy enough to enable the average Spaniard to be well informed on American national politics, on its commercial activities and, among other things, its crime.

President Roosevelt's efforts, through the NRA and other agencies, to decrease unemployment and stabilize industry; the epic flights of Colonel Lindbergh; developments in the prohibition experiment and major incidents in the lives of such gentlemen as Mr. Alphonse Capone are well known to the average Spaniard.

Cuban Policy Impresses

The hands-off attitude of the United States toward Cuba has elicited much favorable comment, as has President Roosevelt's "friendly neighbor" position toward the Latin-American countries, in which Spain feels a maternal interest.

In general, the Spaniard regards the United States with admiration and respect. He is anxious to strengthen the bonds of friendship linking it with his own country. In the words of the American ambassador, Claude Bowers:

"My own observations, tested by the judgment of others better qualified as interpreters of the average man in Spain, convince me that the Spanish people are pronouncedly friendly to the United States."

Would You Pay $2.00 to Lose 50 Pounds of Fat?

"The Easiest and Healthiest Way," Says Carolina Woman Who Reduced From 180 to 130 lbs.

Mrs. J. A. May of Pittsburg, N. C., writes: "I took Kruschen for reducing for 2 months and lost 50 lbs. It's the easiest and healthiest way. I weighed 180 and now weigh only 130. I feel better—look better than ever before."

Don't let burdensome fat make you inactive, peevish and unattractive—who knows but what you, too, wouldn't be a lovely, slender, animated creature if you'd only take off that excess fat with a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts first thing every morning in a glass of hot water.

Kruschen is SAFE—that's why so many physicians prescribe it—it's actually a health treatment which establishes proper and normal body functioning thus getting rid of ugly fat without leaving skin sagging or wrinkled. It brings new energy, clearer skin all while it keeps you free from headaches, constipation, indigestion, gas, acidity and fatigue. A jar lasts 4 weeks and never costs more than 35 cents at any drugstore the world over.—Advt.

Demure Touch Softens Paris' Midseason Mode

Dark blue crepe de chine makes this demure hat following the "little girl" mode. The corded off-the-face brim is caught with a navy and red feather fancy. The frock with the school girl collar is navy blue wool. Hat designed by Rose Valois.

DR. H. D. WOOD

Here's an 87-year-old physician who isn't thinking of retirement to the chimney corner and his memories. He's Dr. H. D. Wood of Fayetteville, Arkansas, who still holds a scalpel without a tremble, drives his own car and keeps up an active practice.

Ice Chapel Is Built by Students

STUDENTS of Lawrence college at Appleton, Wis., have erected this handsome chapel on the campus, using more than 40 tons of ice. The structure, which is 15 feet high, is lighted at night by 20,000 watts of white and colored lights.

Lizard Used as Food

The flesh of the lizard, known as the iguana, is much prized by the natives where it commonly occurs, and it is said to be tender and white and in flavor equal to that of chicken. The horned toad and the American chameleon belong to the same family.

First Golf Ball Feathered

The first golf ball was feathered and covered with leather. This ball was used as far back as the sixteenth century. The first change came about two centuries later, when the first solid ball was made of gutta-percha. This ball floated.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 1. (AP)—Stocks greeted the new American dollar with a jubilant cheer today and important business circles were optimistic of many more months of upward movement for the dollar in the near future.

All categories drew some of their best following since the 1932 spring-summer boom and gains of 1 to 2 or more points were scattered over a broad front. The ticker tape lagged frequently. Profit taking hurried occasionally halted the advance but reaction was quickly absorbed and the climb resumed.

Cotton and some other commodities improved, but grains were somewhat better at the opening. The dollar advanced about 1/2 cent, getting up more than 1 cent a basket. Secondary bonds were up 1/4 to 1/2 points. The 10-year bond was up 1/2 point.

Foreign Exchange Takes Sharp Change

President's Action in Cutting the Dollar to 58.06 Cents Causes Expected Foreign Depreciation—U. S. Currency Maintains Relative Level.

President Roosevelt's action yesterday in cutting the value of the United States dollar to 58.06 cents caused sharp reactions in foreign exchange markets abroad today.

In those markets, the value of the dollar in terms of the various foreign currencies, depreciated—as had been expected.

Financial observers, however, noted instantly that the dollar reaction abroad was not nearly as sharp as the presidential decree. The dollar went down but it did not stay there.

In London, for example, the dollar plunged about 5 cents in relation to the pound when the market opened being sold at a rate of $5.07 1/2 to the pound but by early afternoon it had gained back 1 1/2 cents and was selling at $5.02.

In Paris it opened at 15.55 francs (6.39 cents to the franc) and slid off at noon to 15.50 francs (6.45 cents to the franc).

Even at that, however, the dollar was still above the theoretical pegging point of 15.48 francs to the dollar (6.43 cents to the franc).

French financial circles were glad to see the dollar pegged, and experts of the Bank of France, regarding the act as placing the American currency one step closer to the gold standard. But financial experts generally did not expect the theoretical pegging point to be reached in relation to the currency or debtor nations, for it was pointed out that the United States, as a creditor, was practically certain to see its currency stay at a relatively high level in relation to other currencies.

Berle Wishes to Show Real Situation About New York's Finances

La Guardia's City Chamberlain Makes Statement Before State Senate—No Actual Conflict with Previous City Administration.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 1. (AP)—A. A. Berle, former member of the Roosevelt "brain trust," now Mayor La Guardia's city chamberlain, today told the Democratic-controlled Senate committee on the affairs of cities that he would like "to go beyond the mere figures of the technical budget and disclose the real financial situation in New York city."

Berle was commissioned by the mayor to represent him before the committee and present detailed figures of the exact amount of the city's deficit. The committee sent word to Mayor La Guardia yesterday that it could not act on his economy bill without more information.

Former Acting Comptroller Frank J. Priol, who disputed the figures presented by the mayor at a recent joint legislative hearing, also was present at the request of the committee.

After roughly outlining his estimates of the city's 1934 expenditures and income, Berle said:

"If we go into the real financial situation of the city, and I hope it will, I would be glad to do so."

Berle said he and other fiscal officers of the city and conferred with former Comptroller George McAneny and found that his estimates of the deficit differed from theirs only because of technicalities in computations.

"I was under the impression," he said, "and so it proved when I talked with Mr. McAneny, that there was no actual conflict. There was in fact only a difference in the manner of reckoning the deficit. Mr. McAneny agrees that our estimates are correct."

Further Adjournment Taken in Assault Case

The hearing, which was to have been held Wednesday evening before Justice Roger H. Loughran at Hurley, in the case of Leo Dolan of Hurley, charged with second degree assault, was postponed for two weeks, until February 14. The postponement was caused by the continued illness of Fred Groene, who was implicated with Dolan in an affair at the Hurley hotel on the morning of January 7, in which Dolan was shot twice and Groene severely beaten up. Groene, who has been held for the grand jury, is still confined to his home at Hurley, where he was taken after being discharged from the hospital.

SPRING FASHIONS APPEAR ON HORIZON

Earliest Models Show Coats Going to Extremes.

Too much as well give it soon if there's any time to think of spring and what you'll wear next spring. Fashion says it's time to think of spring and what you'll wear next spring. Fashion says it's time to think of spring and what you'll wear next spring.

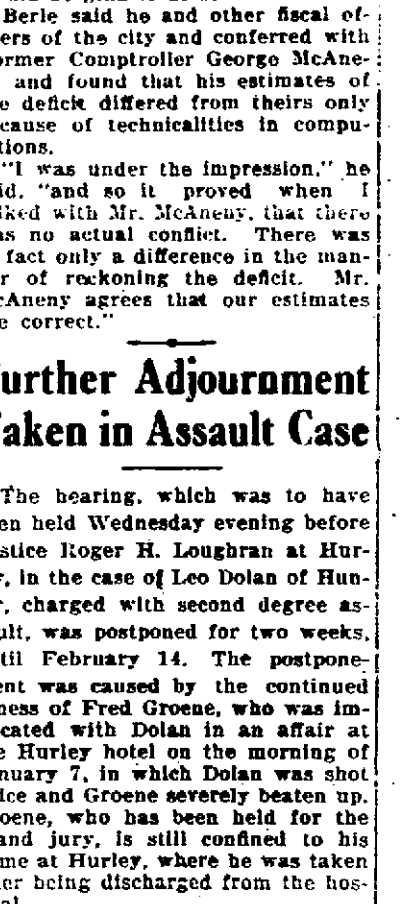

Light furs are leading the way in the animal parade for spring. There is one called "blonde fur" which is shown on a smart spring coat and the collar is detachable. Polar wolf and lynx and if you know white skunk, you know what is going to be used extensively in the spring.

Coats are going to extremes. Re-gloning with the mannishly tailored plaid coat, they graduate, with very little elementary work, to pastel toned, luxuriously fur trimmed models. For spectators, coats introduce a feeling of softness through the tops by means of caplets and wide armholes.

If you know what porcelain blue is, choose a slightly darker tone for spring. Brown and beige, which seem after black and white, to be the hold-on combination in fashion history, is getting stiff competition from the monotone department.

CAP-SLEEVED GOWN

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

More and more, simplicity of design is giving way to elaborated detail in the fashioning of midday's nightgown. Especially is the vogue of the sleeveless nightgown passing. The newer models in some instances have wrist-length sleeves which appear almost quaint and amusing in contrast to the sleeveless types advocated these many seasons past. A compromise between sleeveless and long-sleeved is the gown which has a tiny cap sleeve effect as here pictured, for it is fashionable's decree that shoulders must be covered. The pretty model illustrated is fashioned of chardonnay, a soft lustrous weave which is particularly adapted to lingerie needs, since it lathers beautifully, always retaining its exquisite silken sheen. The stylizing of this gown with a fish-like effect which develops into cap sleeves is particularly interesting.

Brown panne velvet gown

Is Popular for Evening

An evening gown, "Muriel," from Worth has the privilege of being one of 1934 season favorites with both American and European buyers.

It is made of brown panne velvet with a silver beige cast over it. It fits the body like a glove and from the thighs down the skirt falls in soft, simple folds. The rather wide, square décolletage in front is held in place by two long, rectangular strap clips, and ends to a point in the back. A band of the material winds around the waist (the waistline is perfectly normal) and drapes at one side. The wide cape-sleeves are bordered with small rolled feathers in the same shade as the gown.

FLASHES FROM PARIS

New under brims are flower faced.

Metal capes match the trimming on evening gowns.

The all-silk ensemble or suit is in promise for spring.

Latest décolletage calls for extremely low cut in front.

First call to the colors for spring is answered by navy blue.

Tiare cut theme is exploited for hats both formal and informal.

"Doll up" your midsection after-noon dress with a pretty collar of glistering metal weave.

New Necklines

In addition to the high front neckline for evening, a low, wide front décolletage is being shown. Furs are used at the neckline in a square effect on some evening jackets.

Flamingos Do Not Breed in Florida Keys Section

For 100 years rumors have persisted that flamingos have at some time bred in Florida. John James Audubon, studying birds in the Florida Keys about 1840, tried hard to establish the fact that they nested in that region. He hunted assiduously, saw flamingos and pursued them on various occasions, but in the end gave up the idea that they were residents of the United States. He died without ever finding the nest.

Today we know that there are three great breeding colonies about 200 miles from the region of his search. These are on the islands of Great Abaco and Andros, in the Bahamas, and on small islands near Moron, off the north coast of Cuba. These regions are about 125 miles apart.

Undoubtedly from one or more of these places flamingos come to the coast of South Florida at rare intervals, usually during the winter or early spring months.

Since Audubon's time flocks ranging from 500 to 1,000 birds have been seen on several occasions in Florida bay. Smaller numbers have been reported many other times. Authentic reports of such occurrences are comparatively rare and the birds seen in all probability have been visitors that remained on our shores only for a brief period.

Exhibit Recalls Porcelain Find

At Meissen, Germany, a permanent porcelain exhibition has been created in the Albrechtsburg in which Johann Bottger, trying to produce gold for King August the Strong, stumbled on to the secret of making porcelain. In one small banquet room a table is set with the famous coral-red porcelain with the dragon mark, which was manufactured exclusively for the Saxon royal house until the end of 1918. The "Bottger room" has mural paintings showing the inventor at his labors, and a showcase contains the materials used in making porcelain.

Meteor and Meteorite

A meteor is "a sudden luminous phenomenon, as of a star or bright body in rapid motion through the air, produced by a small mass of matter from the celestial spaces striking the air with planetary velocity, and suffering heating, dissipation, or combustion."

A meteorite is "a fallen meteor; a mass of stone or iron that has fallen upon the earth from space." In other words, says Literary Digest, a meteor remains a meteor unless it falls upon the earth; in which case it is called a meteorite.

A Quiet English Village

Who says the English countryside is absolutely ruined? West Ashton, in Wiltshire, is proof of its simplicity. It has no railway station, no "pubs," no golf course, no crime and no bus but voluntary unemployment. There's a bus from the nearest town every other week. There are electric lights along the roads, in the church and on several large farms. The cottagers are content with oil lamps. There's no real estate office.

Armed Wife whose husband had gone to bed first, but whom she did not find in bed when she got there—Bill, where are you?
Bill (drowsily)—Ah, come to bed. I've been asleep hours.
Mrs. Bill—But you're not in bed!
Bill—Thunder! I'm not. I'm where I'm in anyway.
Mrs. Bill—No, darling. You're where the bed used to be. I changed things around today and you are sleeping in the cedar chest.

Groom—Tied hard and fast?
Minister—Nothing but death can sever the sacred tie which now binds you to this girl.

Groom—You couldn't unsplce us again, parson, even if you wanted to?
Minister—No, the ceremony I have performed is irrevocable.
Groom—Then, parson, I'm going to stand you off for it.
—And taking his wife by the arm, he took unceremonious leave.

DOUBLE ANNOUNCEMENT!

OLDSMOBILE OFFERS BIGGER, MORE BEAUTIFUL EIGHT.....AT LAST YEAR'S LOW PRICE...$845!

OLDSMOBILE WILL SOON INVADE THE LOW-PRICE FIELD WITH NEW ALL-FEATURE SIX...$640!

YOU EXPECT some improvements in any new model of any car... But—double your expectations! You'll still fall way short of the wealth of beauty and improvements with which General Motors has endowed the 1934 Oldsmobiles. You've been hearing exciting things about the new Knee-Action Wheels. Each front wheel is mounted independently, and cushioned on its own flexible coil spring. The wheel "walks" over bumps and holes without jarring the car or the passengers. Steering? Center-Control Steering banishes "shimmy" and shake. A built-in Ride Stabilizer counteracts the usual tendency of a car to sway and roll on turns and curves. Stopping? New self-energizing Super-Hydraulic Brakes do it quicker, surer, safer. A tremendous advancement over the conventional type of hydraulic brake. More room? It's there... no cramping or crowding. Quietness? It's there... Oldsmobile's Syncro-Mesh Transmission is quiet in ALL speeds; body and engine are cradled in rubber. Power? 90 horsepower in the new straight Eight... 84 in the new low-price Six. The priceless year-round comfort of Fisher No Draft Ventilation. Mechanical refinements and advancements mean the new Oldsmobile will cost you very, very little to run. Precision-built throughout—with all the ruggedness and performance for which Oldsmobile is famous. Come in. Whether you plan to buy a new car this year or not, give yourself the pleasure of looking at, sitting in, driving a 1934 Oldsmobile.

KNEE-ACTION WHEELS

Each front wheel mounted independently and cushioned on strong, coil spring—controlled by double-action hydraulic shock absorber. Wheel "walks" over bumps; body of car remains stable.

SUPER-HYDRAULIC BRAKES

Not just another hydraulic brake, but a tremendous advancement. Grips smoothly with slightest foot pressure. Always equalized on all four wheels. Self-energizing. Quick, sure braking.

CENTER-CONTROL STEERING

Divorces steering from road shocks taken by front wheels. In Oldsmobile, steering action is exerted on both front wheels from a point exactly midway between steering wheels. It's completely free from "shimmy" or quiver.

RIDE STABILIZER

You have felt cars sway and roll at high speed or rounding curves. In Oldsmobile this is now prevented by a built-in Ride Stabilizer. The car is ALWAYS in balance when passing curves, making riding, driving, and parking easier.

Brucks Even Series With Rosendale Winning, 39-20

Battling on even terms for the first half, which ended 14 all, Pete Bruck's All Stars dashed to the front in the second Wednesday night at B. W. S. Hall, High Falls, and outpointed the Rosendale Firemen 39-20. The victory ended the series between the clubs, Rosendale having defeated the Poultrymen last Saturday.

Stars for the winners in the contest were the two forwards, Ben Chilson and Herb Van Deusen, both of whom scored 10 points. Pete Bruck, who hasn't been doing active work of late, took to the court in the second half and besides holding Norm Niles scoreless in the action, registered nine markers. Niles for his evening's work made seven, highest individual tally on the Rosendale list of scores.

Rhinebeck Booked By the Luckies for Friday's Contest

Jack Troy's Luckies, conquerors of the Emeralds at Liberty last weekend, will play the Rhinebeck team Friday night at White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue, in the feature of the basketball program that is expected to draw a capacity house.

The Rhinebeckers have cleaned up everything in Dutchess county and some of the most outstanding in Ulster case circles, including the Spinnys. Troy realizes the assignment is a tough one for his battlers, but counts on them to win because of their stellar performance in defeating the Emeralds on their home court.

Starting time of the skirmish is 9 o'clock. There will be two preliminaries, one between the Rhinebeck and Rosendale girls at 8 and the other at 7 between the League of Nations and Comforter Missions.

Layden Takes Up Notre Dame Job

South Bend, Feb. 1 (AP)—Elmer Layden sat down at Knute Rockne's famous old desk under the golden dome today and began his active campaign to bring Notre Dame back to its former glory in the football world.

Back on the grounds, where he gained fame as fullback on the immortal "Four Horsemen" eleven, Layden officially took charge of Notre Dame's athletic destinies as director of athletics and head football coach. No ceremonies were held with his induction to office, although two weeks ago he was given a tumultuous reception at the annual football banquet.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

Frank Butterworth, a legendary figure in Yale's football history, pleads for a return of the "old, lovable, inspiring conditions and atmosphere of football."

Meanwhile, the ranks of Old Eli's alumni have been split wide open by controversy over the coaching situation and the ancient citadel of learning at New Haven, whence have sprung some of the finest of gridiron traditions, is faced by the alternative of clinging to its last stronghold of sentiment or of yielding to the clamor for a "New Deal."

Shall Yale, although going out its own ranks for baseball and rowing coaches, still sustain the tradition of graduate coaching or concede the march of events by bidding for the best talent in the market, regardless of previous collegiate allegiance?

That is the question, and anyone who thinks it has not been agitating Yale minds all over the country doesn't know the Bulldog's growl.

Seek a Balance

Good sportsmanship and considerable sanity exists in college football today, as always, but I do not think conditions were any more "lovable and inspiring" in Butterworth's playing days—the era of the flying wedge, the hurdle and free-for-all after the ball game—than they have been in recent years.

Football is not alone a sport involving hard body contact with a premium on the effective block and tackle, but it has also become the biggest business in college athletics. Yale men no doubt desire to keep a balance between the extremes to which the game can go. At the same time they want Yale teams to perform up to long-standing Eli traditions, doing the best they can under the influence of the best of coaching. And why not, they ask, so long as the authorities at New Haven have decided this year to play an all big league schedule, starting off with Columbia?

"That's where the big rub comes in," a prominent graduate told me recently. "They talked of de-emphasizing a few years ago, of reducing the schedule to three or four major games and eventually looking forward to a season of intra-mural football, interrupted only for a contest with Harvard. Instead of doing that, Yale schedules have been getting progressively tougher, while the coaching staff has been progressively less experienced."

Seems Reasonable

Yale men, on the whole, are not interested in championship teams or Rose Bowl invitations. They have outgrown any enthusiasm for high-pressure, but they will never outgrow the desire to see Eli teams lick Harvard.

As things have gone the past few seasons at New Haven, they have begun to fear the worst. They experience a sharp twinge of pain any time Fritz Crisler and the Princeton Tigers are mentioned. The answer, they insist, is a complete reorganization and facing of the facts.

When Yale boxing was at low ebb, Old Eli craftsmen stepped out and hired Ed Leader, successful University of Washington coach, who produced immediate and gratifying results. Now that football is in the same fix, the demand for a new, experienced man to revitalize gridiron prowess seems logical.

Tilden Conquers Vines

Long Beach, Calif., Feb. 1 (AP)—"Big Bill" Tilden romped through Elsworth Vines in easy fashion last night in a professional tennis match, winning in straight sets, 6-0, 6-2. Tilden's victory was his fifth in the barn-storming cross-country tour as compared with eight for Vines.

In the main game the Comforter Missions had a pushover in the West Camp Tigers, who were able to score only 12 points to 57 rolled up by the Missions. Follette and Stumpf did the scintillating for the Missions and A. Boyle for the Tigers.

The girls' game ended in victory for the Wilkwycks over the Comforters, 5-4.
